Why Choose IAPMO R&T for Cast Iron Soil Pipe and Fitting Certification

ONTARIO, CA (July 17, 2007) — With so many certification agencies from which to choose, how can a manufacturer of cast iron soil pipe products know which is the best? An agency must earn the trust of its clients through expeditious processing, fair pricing and, most of all, integrity in its certification practices. With a 98% customer approval rating, IAPMO R&T is widely respected as North America's premier plumbing and mechanical product certification agency.

Backed by the strength of 70 years of experience, cast iron soil pipe products bearing the IAPMO R&T marks of conformity are trusted by contractors, inspectors, and building officials everywhere. So why is an IAPMO R&T certification the smartest choice for your company's cast iron soil pipe product?

1. IAPMO R&T inspects cast iron soil pipe product manufacturing plants a minimum of three times per year, ensuring the highest degree of integrity in conforming to established industry standards.
2. As part of The IAPMO Group, IAPMO R&T is the only agency with expert knowledge of the Uniform Plumbing Code, one of the most respected and recognized documents of record.
3. IAPMO R&T is accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and the Standards Council of Canada (SCC) to evaluate cast iron soil pipe products to the requirements of CISPI 301, ASTM 888, CSA B70, and other related standards.
4. So that inspectors may select from an entire inventory of products, IAPMO R&T is the only agency that conducts unannounced inspections at manufacturing and warehouse locations.
5. Unlike other agencies that specialize only in scientific analysis, IAPMO R&T has a long history of certifying cast iron soil pipes and fittings with its staff of expert mechanical engineers.

Contact IAPMO R&T today to see how your company can get its cast iron soil pipe products certified more efficiently. For more information on this and other services provided by IAPMO R&T, please visit www.iapmo.org.
